Singing bowls were historically made throughout Asia. Today they are made in Nepal, India, Japan, China and Korea. The best known types are from the Himalayan region and are sometimes referred to as Himalayan Singing Bowls.

FEATURES

Our Crystal Singing Bowls are manufactured from 99.99% pure quartz crystal, and are the finest, pristine, crystal singing bowls. The crushed quartz is heated to at least 1100 degrees in the manufacturing. Then, they are tested to determine the musical note. Although the larger bowls have a deeper, lower octave, tone, it is not the size that determines the 'note' of the bowl.

The bowls are associated with the musical scale, starting with C, then D, E, F, G, A and B. These notes are in turn associated with the Seven Chakras of the Human System.
